Deportation Alarm informs about dates of collective deportations as much as are known:

<https://noborderassembly.blackblogs.org/de/abschiebe-alarm/>

In the days before this date, police will try to take people who are on the list for deportation. There are no certain indicators for whether you are immediately threatened by deportation. But it is possible to know if you generally could be deported – or not. Always ask a lawyer or legal counseling for help, for example:

and Wednesday: 14:00 - 17:00

You are not informed of the date and time of a planned deportation. Police might come to your home or arrest you at the Ausländerbehörde while you are renewing your papers. Thousands of people are hiding from deportation every day. Every day people find ways to subvert deportation raids. Currently, this mostly happens within self-organized refugee initiatives, invisibilized in isolated Lagers. It is high time that more privileged passport-holders follow this example and open their rooms for people looking to hide. Collectively, we can stop any deportation from happening. And offering a room as form of direct solidarity is one tactic (among many) to strive for a reality without deportations.
